Nudging the user to ask a question

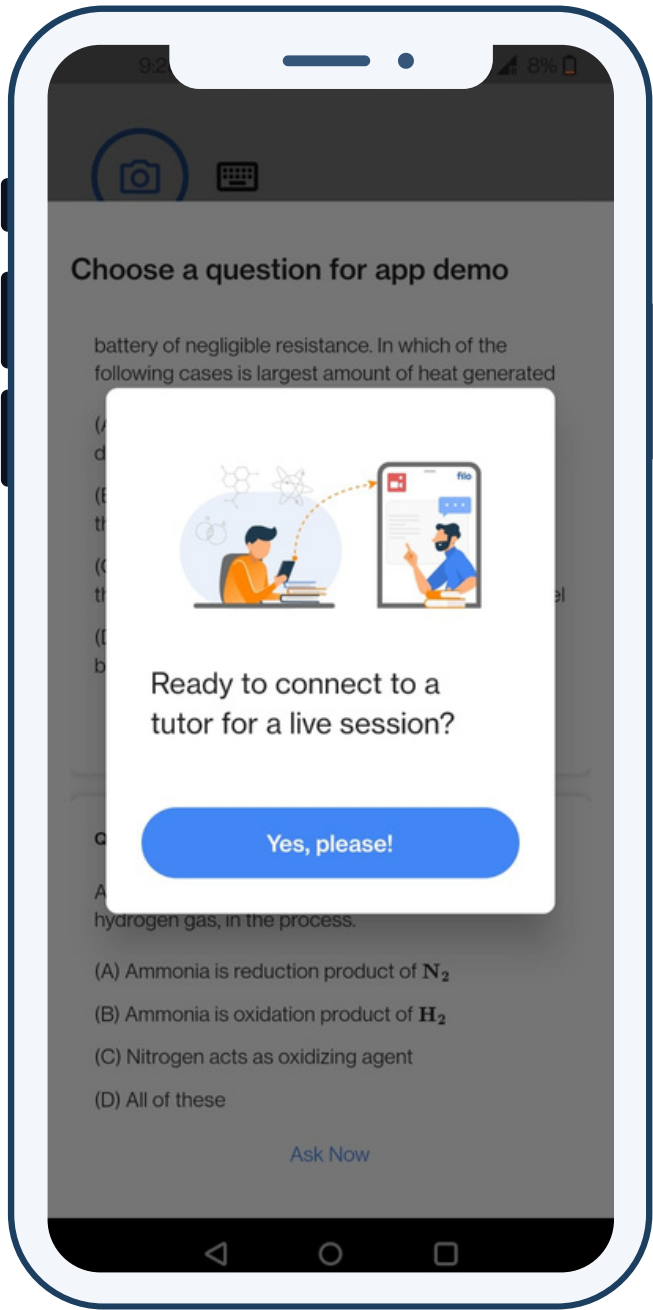

Learner asks a question by Taking a photo, typing or Selecting question from the Question bank

Goes ahead by selecting a question from the Question bank for a demo.

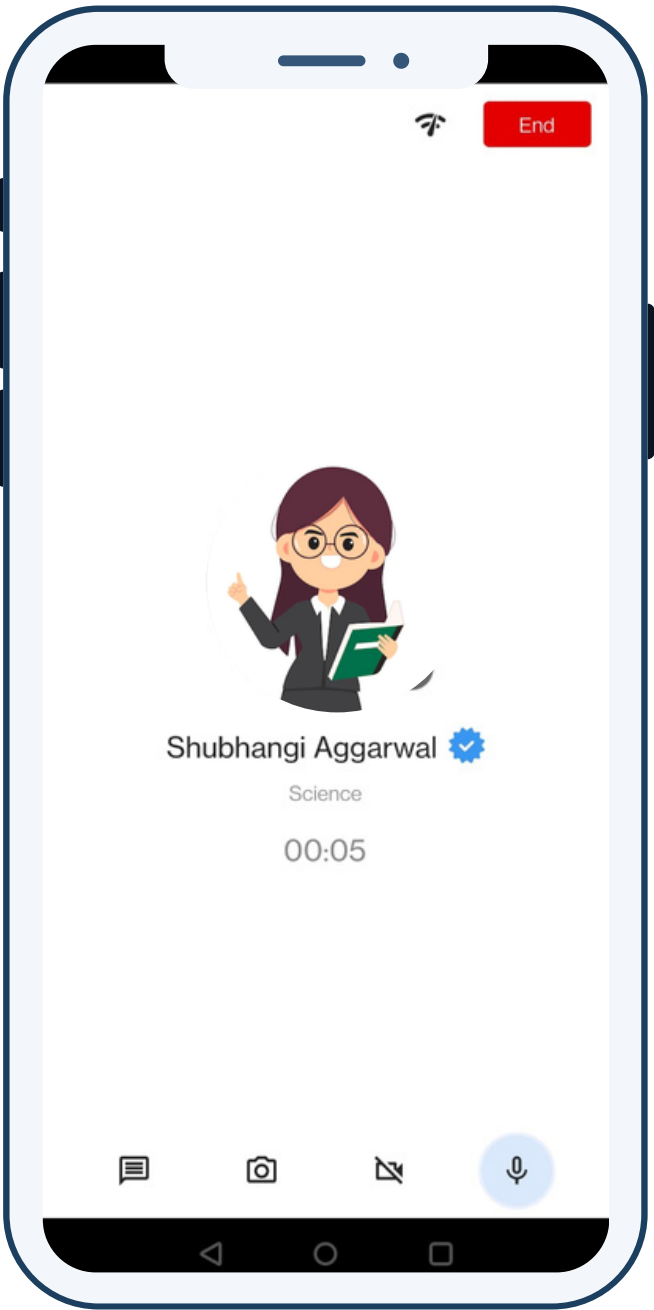

Matching a Tutor

Getting ready for Tutor Matching

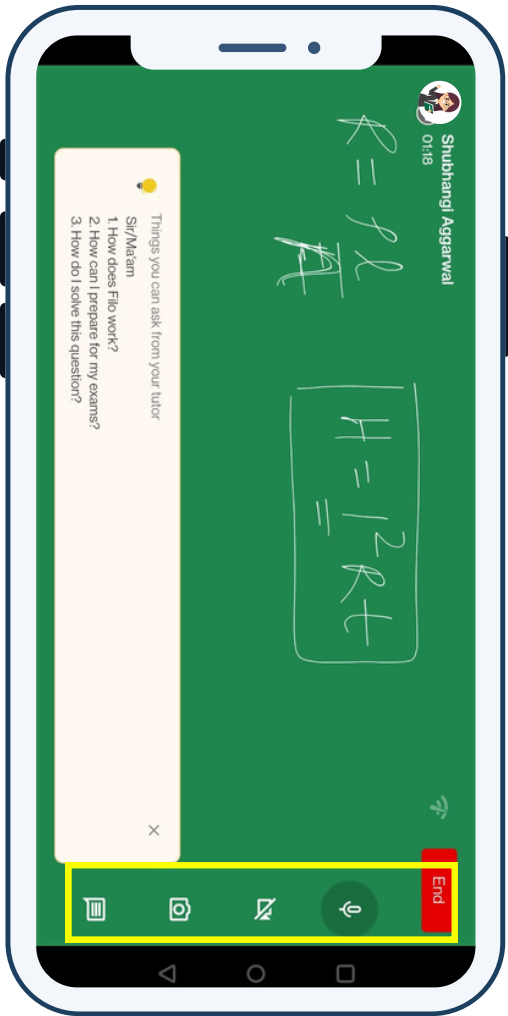

A tutor gets matched within 10 seconds

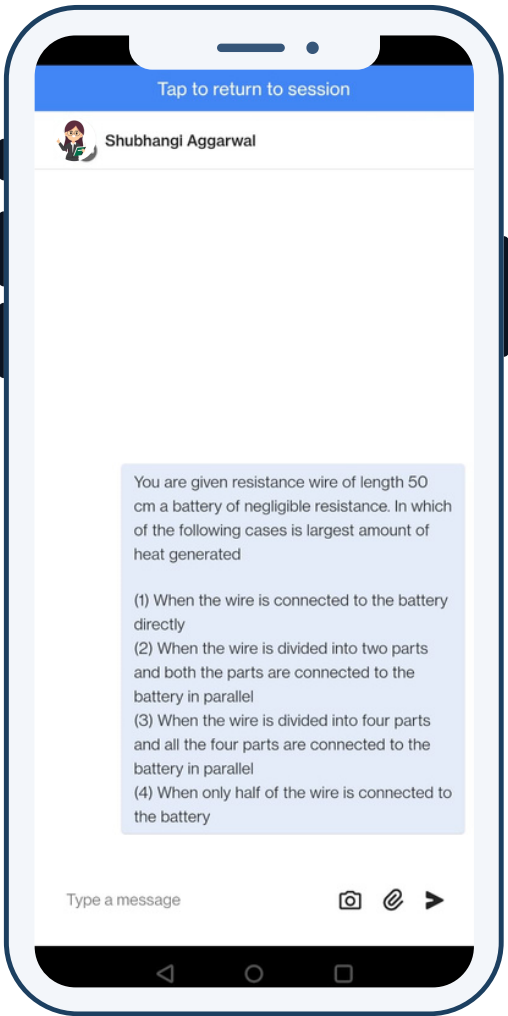

Live session starts

Booking a live session (2/2)

Live session in progress

Live session starts with the tutor. Menu contains adding photos with a camera, chat icon, audio/video access and exit icon

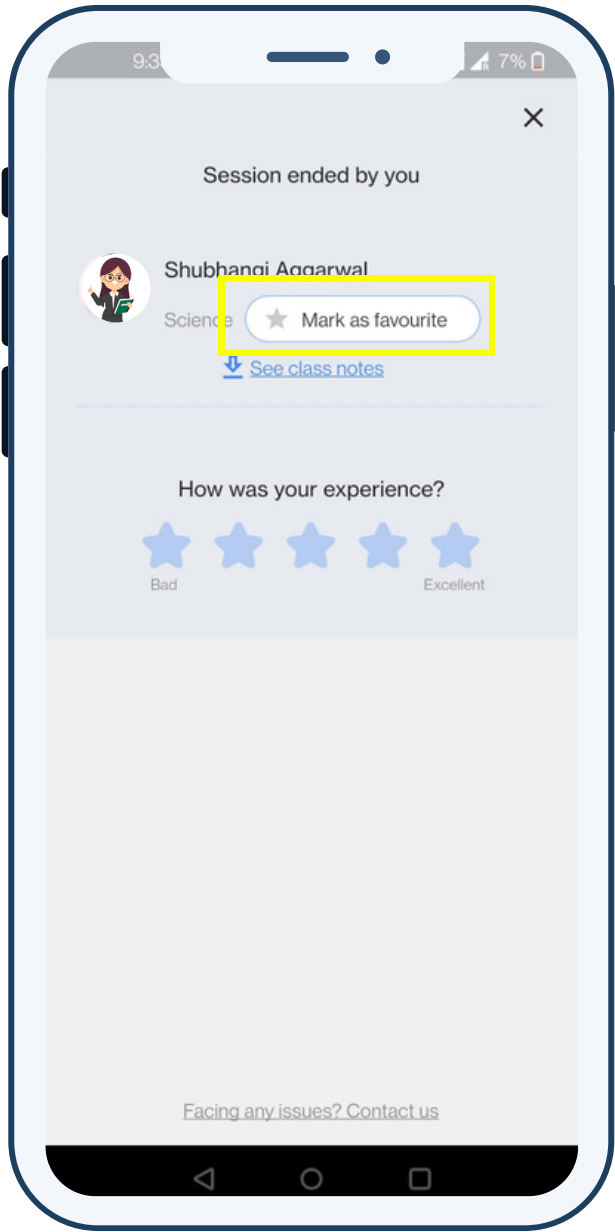

The learner can send messages through the messaging option. The learner is confused as to where he/she can look at the question. Later realizes it is in the messaging section

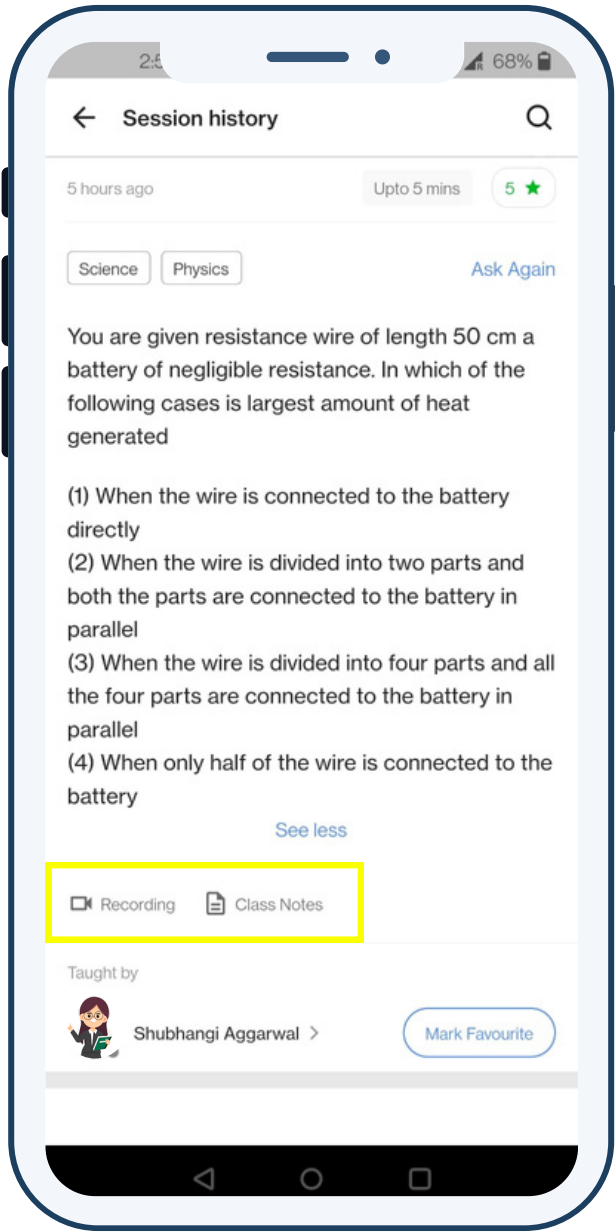

Ends the session after discussion

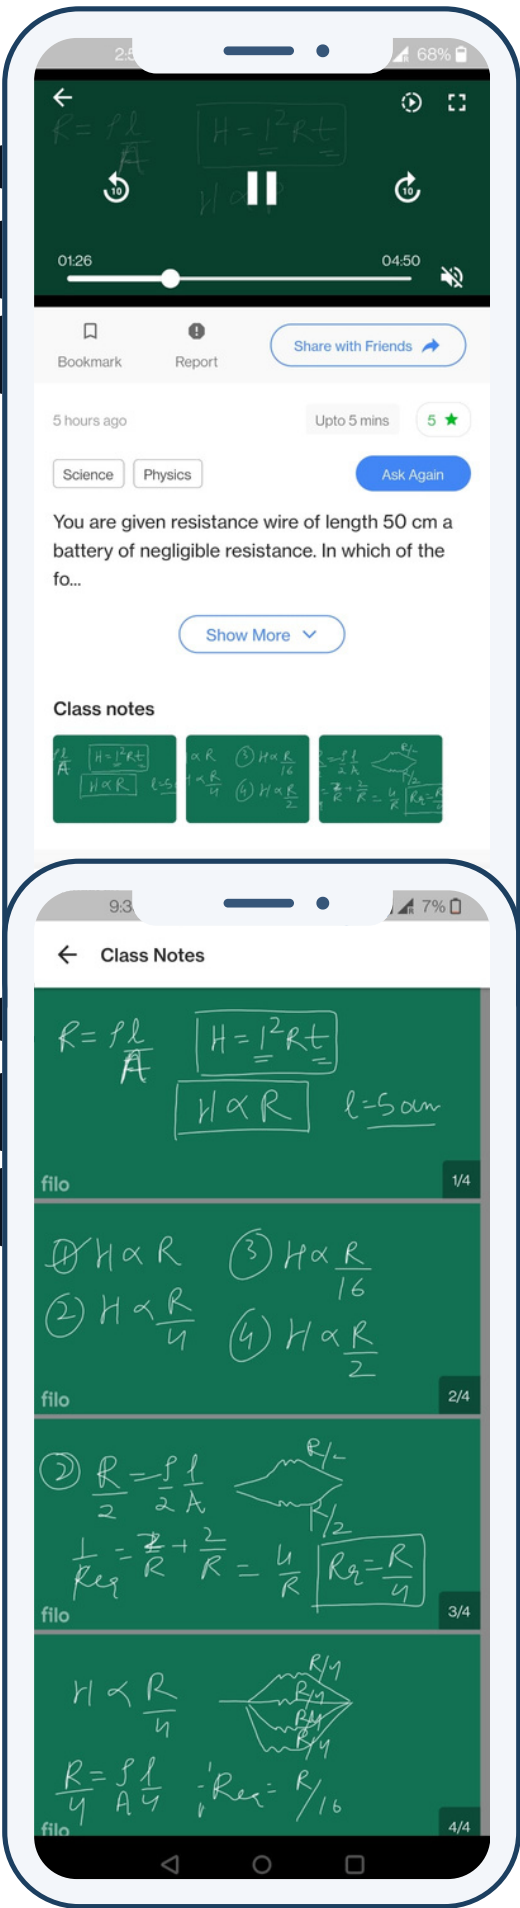

Post session

Option of reviewing the tutor after the session and mark as favorite comes up.

In the session history the learner can see the question along with recording and class notes.

The good and Bad (These are based on Playstore reviews)

Filo

- Easy-to-use app.
- Doubts get cleared on the spot.
- Searching on sites is a waste of time.
- Helped with the school curriculum.
- Very helpful during exams.
- Some tutors are really nice and explain really well.

Filo : Tutor app

- Good use of extra hours and for a part-time job.
- Students are nice and sincere
- A good use of teaching skills, giving back to students who need help.
- can teach from the comfort of our homes and time

- There is only a limited time (15 mins) free for each day without premium which sometimes doesn't get recharged the next day.
- Sometimes the tutors are stuck and it takes up our time. They should ask us to move to another tutor.
- Unexperienced teachers getting matched.
- Once the conversation with a teacher is completed, they get lost in the pool of teachers. There is no option to have a chat with them.
- Customer care issues.

- Less remuneration.
- UI glitches.
- Inaccurate feedback system.
- Technical support issues.
- Students misbehave and give negative ratings without any reason
